

Media Destruction & Recycling Program

What is this program?

Both analog and digital data storage media, along with film often contain intellectual property, classified material, sensitive information, and personal identity data that need protection from theft and misuse. Kodak's Graphic Communications Group (GCG) is proud to introduce an environmentally responsible and secure media destruction and recycling program for many types of data storage media including hard drives, tapes, tape cartridges, CDs, DVDs, Zip disks and floppy disks in the US and Canada. We do not require you to separate or otherwise prepare your end-of-life data storage media, and Certificates of Destruction can be provided upon request.

What are the benefits of this program?

By participating in the secure Media Destruction and Recycling Program, you will

- Conserve precious natural resources
- Ensure compliance with environmental regulations
- Help the environment by reducing the amount of waste that goes into landfills
- Protect your intellectual property and classified material
- Prevent theft and misuse of sensitive information
- Protect your company image & reduce your liability

What can I return?

This program is available to all of Kodak's Graphic Communications Product customers who need secure, environmentally sound destruction and recycling of all data storage media such as:

- Hard drives
- Film 16mm or Fiche
- Tapes
- Tape cartridges
- CDs
- DVDs
- Zip disks
- Floppy disks

Is my intellectual property & information protected?

This program offers 100% protection for your intellectual property, sensitive information and classified information. Certificates of destruction can be supplied upon request.
